Natural Language Understanding

Semantic Frame Model

- Requires a domain ontology
- Contains core content (intent, a set of slots with fillers)

Product
Domain

I would like to buy a red, Apple phone suitable for boys buy_product (type = "Apple", color = "red", suitable-group = "boys")

Music
Domain

Play some Jazz music by James this month

find_music (genre = "jazz", singer = "James", time = "this month")

Domain Classification

User

Sequence Labeling

Slot Filling

- Definition
 - Fill the missing information or attributes about a given entity or task, (entity/task, slot, filler)

Slot-filling Application Scenarios

- Dialogue System
 - Filling slots via single-turn, multi-turn interaction
- Product attributes refinement
 - Correcting or filling missing attributes based on the information of aligned products
- Entity profile completion
 - Complete entity properties from web text mining

Slot Filling Approaches

- Pattern-based methods
 - Fixed response template set
 - Example: I [love/like] [NER]'s song
- Classifier/model-based methods
 - Formulated as sequence labeling task
 - Example: buy me a ticket from Beijing to Shanghai tomorrow morning

Slot Filling Examples

Is there a cheap restaurant in the center of town please?

Sequence Labeling Task

CRF for tagging each utterance

Classification Task

Regression for each slot value pair

Is there a cheap place in the centre of town please?

slot value pairs

(price, cheap)	✓
(price, center)	✗
(price, town)	✗
(area, center)	✓
